

eReinsure® Wins International Reinsurance Award

eReinsure has been presented with the e-business Initiative of the Year award in the Review Worldwide Reinsurance Awards presented last night at the Dorchester Hotel in London.

The awards have been internationally recognised by the reinsurance industry since their inception 10 years ago. They are adjudicated by a distinguished judging panel which this year included the CEO of the recently-floated Benfield Group, Grahame Chilton and the deputy CEO of the Swiss Re Group, Rudolf Kellenberger.

Igor Best-Devereux, CEO of eReinsure, said of their success: “We’re delighted to be recognized in this way, especially by such a distinguished panel of judges. We are also confident that our recent client acquisitions will accelerate the adoption of web-based technology for the management of reinsurance purchasing”.

Jason Groves, editor of The Review – Worldwide Reinsurance, said: “In a time where there is some market scepticism about electronic reinsurance platforms, one success story deserves praise. eReinsure’s technology platform for placing reinsurance is both highly reliable and proven as a database and workflow tool that is accessed over the internet. Judges praised the company for building up a ‘substantial volume of premium’ and for making ‘placement more efficient’. It is a worthy winner.”

The awards are organised by The Review – Worldwide Reinsurance, the leading international magazine for the international reinsurance industry, and was established in 1869.

Guest speaker on the night was renowned BBC war correspondent John Simpson.

The category was sponsored by ROOM Solutions.
